

Judith Franks

Sacramento, CA

11/9/07

49-1

Add to the plan lightrail from Davis to Sacramento. This should have been in the plan from inception. What have we been thinking?? This is a no brainer for building future business. Making access to Sacramento easy for young professionals like those that go to undergraduate and graduate school in Davis increases the amount of time they can spend in Sacramento and enjoy it's many advantages as a metropolitan city. By not putting lightrail between the two cities you have chosen to isolate these professionals to the town of Davis. These professionals would be frequenting our restaurants and using our many services and possibly living in Sacramento downtown instead of Davis and they would have access to so much more. Sacramento might be a city they would come back to and start their careers in the future. This has been a huge mistake. I hope you see the great benefit and make this one change and build the lightrail between Davis and Sacramento.