Fieldtrip Location and Theme:
Pacific Coast Producers tomato plant- Students participated in a behind-the-scenes tour of the Pacific Coast Producers tomato plant. The tour provided information about in-season production and how transportation contributes to the plant’s daily operations.

Key Outcomes:
• Students learned about the current and future projects addressing transportation challenges in the SACOG region.
• Students evaluated their transportation options and how their preferred ways of travelling may change in the future.
• Students participated in a discussion with transportation specialists about the innovation and environmental impacts of various modes of transportation.
• Through the Woodland tomato plant tour, students had the opportunity to see how transportation contributes to the economic development of Yolo County.
